Indian Territory.

in Tepees, But Are Well Dressed and Dwell in Houses with Madern Conveniences.

The official announcement that the Indian Territory will be thrown open to white settlement has caused a flood of inquiries as to the personnel of the Indians who live in the territory. Most people are under the impression that they wear blankets and live in tepees The Indians, says the Chicago Times-Herald, are as much civilized and most of them as well educated as the upper class of citizens of the larger eastern cities. There are five nations-Choctaw, Chickasaw, Cherokee, Creek and Seminole. About ten per cent, of the five tribes are full bloods, while the remainder are quarter, sixteenth and thirty-second blood. The young men are most all highly educated, as well as the girls. Each nation has a school where these young people are educated and boarded free. The school is maintained by the United States and all the higher branches are taught. The Indians are compelled to send their children to these schools. Perhaps the most interesting characters of the Indian nation to-day are the girls and young women. A too general impression regarding the Indian girl of to-day is that she is an unkempt, coarse-appearing creature, with none of the refinement characteristic of the white woman and a general tendency toward degradation. It has seemed to be almost impossible to divorce the Indian girl from the idea obtained through the story book squaws of other days or the impression given by the besotted Indian women one sees lounging about the stations of Arizona and New Mexico. It is true that a majority of the Indians have black hair and eyes, but it is equally correct to say that there are many perfect blonds among them, with rose leaf complex-

Again, the complexion of the Indian brunette is not muddy, but as clear and delicate as one would expect in a woman who had led the ordinary life of civilization. As a matter of fact, these Indian girls of the five tribes would be at home in any drawing-room, as witness this picture of Miss Susie McClelland, a sixteenth Cherokee. They have been educated into it by the college teachers among them. It is very difficult to distinguish the Indian girls of the territory from white girls who live among them. During the last quarter of a century the number of white men who have married girls belonging to the five civilized tribes have been astonishing. The advantages of marrying these girls are many. The man who marries one is at once adopted into the tribe and is given a large tract of fine land and his share of the annuity funds, which in some of the tribes amounts to $50 per month. The white adopted citizens have become a power among the Indians of the territory, and it is largely due to them, at least the more honest ones, that the territory is being opened to settlement. Not long ago one of these attractive Indian girls, for a joke, inserted an ad. in a matrimonial paper, and it was a good paper or else the ad. was a very attractive one, because she received 350 proposals of marriage. The Indian girls have been trapped by fortune hunters so many times that they are very suspicious of proposals of marriage from white men whom they have not known any length of time. To protect these girls from the clutches of unprincipled men the interior department recently made a ruling that before a white man could marry into any of the five civilized tribes he must present a certificate of good character from the judge of the county where he last resided. They want no more criminals in the Indian race.

Don't Like Photographers. It is interesting to know that there are some people who very strongly object to being photographed. The late Empress of Austria was one of these, and for many years before her death eluded the vigilance of all photographers. The dislike of the late Empress Elizabeth to the camera is shared by ex-Empress Eugenie, who has not been photographed for 20 years. Three decades have passed since John Ruskin was photographed, and only once has John Hare allowed himself to be thus victimized; this was after a performance at Balmoral and by the express desire of Queen Victoria. Miss Marie Corelli is one of the very few people who have never sat to the camera.

> the Scene of Father Jogues' Martyrdom-History of the Picturesque Spot.

It is situated in the upper central part of New York state, and is one of the throughout the body. It was the chief interest, however, lies in the fact that it was here that Father Isaac and the common source of disease. Jogues and Rene Goupil, two French Jesuits, suffered martyrdom at the Pilgrimages are made thither almost daily by devout Catholies and not a few The soundness of this theory is Protestants. The shrine, according to the New York Herald, is said to have cured many ill persons through the intervention of the martyrs.

It was troublous times in America when the two brave missionaries died for their religion. Historians speak admiringly of the fortitude and courage which impelled these men of civilizes France to undergo untold tortures at the hands of the savages of America in that far time. The Dutch had just succeeded in establishing themselves firmly in New Amsterdam, now New York and had founded a little colony about Van Rensselaerwyck, now Albany. Numerous trading posts were also scattered along the Hudson and the Mohawk. The French had settled Canada, and it was the intention of Father Jogues to penetrate into the district of the Hurons, who were friendly Indians and thence into the region of the Mohawks and the Iroquois.

It was while making the four down the St. Lawrence that Father Jogues and Rene Goupil were captured and carried by way of Lake Champlain and Lake George-the latter of which Father Jogues named Lac Saint Sacrament-to the headquarters of the Iro-

Here for nearly a year the two missionaries were tortured with every conceivable cruelty known to savagery Rene Goupil finally suffered death by the tomahawk at the hands of the chief of the tribe. Father Jogues buried the body in a ravine which is still shown, and later made his escape to the Dutch trading post of Van Rensselaerwyck, where a ransom was paid the Iroquois to appease their wrath at the loss of their captive and to prevent them from swooping down upon the village and precipitating a wholesale massacre.

Father Jogues then returned to France, where he was received with great honors by the queen regent. Longing to continue his mission in America, however, he returned and undertook to bring about peaceful negotiations between the whites and the savages, in which enterprise he was at first very successful. After a time, however, several calamities befell the Iroquois, and, attributing their disasters to the intervention of the great white priest, upon Father Jogues' return to the tribe's headquarters he was again made prisoner, maltreated and at last treacherously put to death. His head thrown into the Mohawk. This was in October, 1646.

Through 250 years, during which vast changes have taken place throughout the whole range of the country's geographical and political being, religious veneration for the great missionary martyrs remains fervent among the thousands who annually visit the Auriesville shrine. While as yet there have been no miracles performed which would lead to the canonization of the martyrs, especial Divine favor has been claimed by the devout Catholics who have elimbed the hill of prayer and moved from station to station, singing and invoking Divine blessing. The shrine is under the care of the Fathers of the Apostleship of Prayer, the cultus being under the name of Our Lady of

The location of the shrine of Auries ville is especially reposeful and conducive to meditation. The number of pilgrims increases every year. They come in bodies from various parts of the state, each Sunday pouring into the broad valley a new band, who form processions on every side and listen to mass said in the open under the blue sky. It is the hope of many Catholics that Father Jogues and Rene Goupil, together with an Indian maiden, Catherine Tegakwitha, may be canonized.
